

FAITHFULLY FOCUSED

GOD WANTS YOUR MIND Philippians 4:8, 9

Good morning, folks, and welcome to worship at Concord. It is good to be here this morning and I am thankful to be with you again. I was in Israel last Sunday dealing with 50 degree weather. Once again winter weather interrupted our schedule here at Concord. May that all be behind us.

This morning we are closing out this series from Philippians I have called "Faithfully Focused". I want to take a look at Paul's final "finally" of Philippians. He give instructions for a godly thought process. "Think on these things."

God wants our minds. This fact has showed up often in Philippians. Throughout the Scriptures we are encouraged to give our minds to God. This passage is a strong reinforcement.

- I. I Must Have a _____ Mind.
- II. I Must Have a _____ Mind.
- III. I Must Have a _____ Mind.
- IV. I Must Have a _____ Mind.

Our minds are to be totally given over to God.

I am very excited as we begin to turn toward Easter. Our spring emphasis is simply called "The Journey to the Cross". We will be following the steps of Jesus from eternity as He moved to the cross. Our congregation is being provided with a devotional/witnessing tool that we hope will be a blessing to you. These books will not just be for us. They are for our friends and coworkers.

Along this journey we will enjoy the choir from Bethel University, a presentation from Jews for Jesus, and a very special evening of worship with our own choir and orchestra. We are focusing on our Redeemer and these are good days.

Your Servant in Christ,
Bro. Monte
