

THE NIGHT THAT CHANGED everything

OUR REDEMPTION

Galatians 4:4-5

It is a good morning to be in church worshipping with fellow believers and celebrating our Redeemer. Many of you are getting ready to travel, but I am so glad that you have made a choice to be here. This morning we are baptizing and observing the Lord's Supper.

God has been so good to this congregation. This has been an exceptional fall. God has opened doors and worked by His grace in our church. We have seen much gospel seed sown and begun to reap a harvest of souls. As you travel this week, look for opportunities to talk about the work of God in our church and in your life. Many people need to be reminded that God is at work in local congregations. They need a church. They also need to hear your story. Tell it out.

Weather hit us hard last weekend, but it did not dampen the presentation of the gospel through Festival of Light. You would have been so proud of your choir and orchestra last Monday at Jefferson City Correctional Center. It was a night I will never forget. Thank you, Festival of Light team!

This morning I am speaking about "Our Redemption". Galatians 4:4-5 spells out the purpose of Christ Jesus' coming into the world. He came to redeem.

- I. Redemption has been God's plan from the moment mankind _____
_____.
- II. Redemption gives us insight into the _____.
- III. Redemption calls for _____.
- IV. Redemption anticipates _____.

God's redeeming love for us was poured out on Bethlehem.

Your Servant in Christ,
Bro. Monte
